► Who are we?

We are a group of experts developing original and free chemical safety and regulatory tutorials and references. These tools aim to help regulatory professionals, as well as non-experts and those new to this area, to find chemical compliance information and safety requirements for their products and businesses. With so many global chemical regulations, each with their own detailed requirements and updates, ChemSafetyPro gathers information together in one place, to help you keep track.

With over 50,000 visitors to our website each month, and over 5,500 subscribers to our free monthly newsletter, ChemSafetyPro provides an ideal platform for you to promote your organisation to a targeted audience of chemical management and control professionals.
